PREFACE

This report is one in a series on Soviet Ground Force and Logistic installations being prepared for a DIA/CIA Panel. The series is being coordinated, published and disseminated by NPIC. The photographic analysis is being performed by the NPIC Photographic Analysis Group, the CIA Photographic Intelligence Division (NPIC), and the Production Center 1P1a (DIA). The photographic analysis for this particular report was performed by the Production Center 1P1a.

In the interest of uniformity, the titles and letter designators for the facilities observed at these installations are identical with those appearing in the project requirement. When a specific facility is not observed both its title and letter designator are omitted in the report.

Titles and letter designators for the various facilities are as follows: (A) railroad service, (B) road service, (C) landing strips, (D) administrative and troop housing areas, (E) storage areas, (F) ammunition storage areas, (G) POL storage areas, (H) other buildings and facilities, (J) equipment storage/maintenance areas, (K) athletic fields, (L) small arms firing ranges, (M) driver training areas, (N) tank/assault gun firing ranges, (P) flat trajectory firing ranges, (Q) artillery emplacements (batteries), (R) infantry or combined arms field training areas or courses, (S) special training facilities, (T) unidentified facilities or tracking activity.

SUMMARY

A probable military installation is located 20 kilometers (km) east of Leningrad (Figure 1).

The facility occupies 60 acres and contains 3 probable barracks/administration buildings, 2 possible barracks, 2 probable equipment storage and 10 miscellaneous support buildings. An apparently abandoned heavy AAA position is located just to the southwest (Figures 2 and 3).

[] KEYHOLE missions of interpretable photography covered the installation between []

No significant change was observed. The facility probably served as antiaircraft defense for the nearby ammunition storage area, but its present military function cannot be determined.
